

JAMIE ANDERSON

SINGS ABOUT OUR LIVES..

Jamie Anderson, singer, songwriter and comic will perform her warm, funny and often outrageous songs at the September monthly meeting of the Sacramento Area Career Women's Network on Saturday, September 18, 1993. The program will be held in Curtis Hall at the Sierra 2 Community Center, 2791 24th Street, Sacramento starting at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour followed by the performance at 7:30 p.m.

Jamie is a versatile performer who has been touring nationally since 1987. She has played in coffeehouses and concert halls in over 70 cities. Last year, Jamie performed at nine women's music festivals, appearing on the main stage at the major gatherings.

Jamie is known for her honest and candid reflection of lesbian life. Her ballad "I Don't Know about the Night," is a song about discovering her love for women. There is also the hilarious "I'm Sorry," Jamie's satirical song of condolence for heterosexuals: "I'm sorry that you're straight/Where do I send the card?" Jamie also performs music like the biting "Looks Can Kill" (about body image) and the energetic hormones-are-ruling-my-life song "Bad Idea."

Jamie Anderson

"Closer to Home," Jamie's first album was voted Favorite Current Album by the readers of Hot Wire. Jamie will be performing songs from her second album, "Center of Balance" that features songs that range from the hot bluegrass of "All of Me" to the rousing folk anthem, "No Closet" Her third album, a compilation of women's music with songs from Jamie, June Millington, Alix Dobkin, Sue Fink, Mary Watkins and others, has just been released.

Anderson weaves her personal brand of humor into her reflection of lesbian life. She sings funny and touching songs about the life and romances of the "average goddess babe lesbian." Using her soothing alto voice, she entertains, stimulates and supports while challenging her audience with lyrics that are haunting, whimsical, quirky and beautiful. This SACWN event is open to women over 21 only.

A MESSAGE FROM THE STEERING COMMITTEE

First of all, let me extend our sincere apologies to all of you who were disappointed by not being able to attend the video showing of "Two in Twenty" at our last meeting. We significantly underestimated the potential audience for this event.

Each month we try to anticipate how many people will be interested in attending the monthly program. We look at past history for the type of event being produced, the month of the year and any special characteristics of the performer or program.

When planning for the August meeting, we considered that our audiences had been small at the last two similar functions (61 in April and 52 in May). We also thought that August would be a low attendance month due to people on vacation. So we booked a theater that seats 108 patrons.

Well, you liked the idea of the soap opera and we sold all of our tickets by Thursday before the event. While that may seem like a producer's dream, in actuality it is not. Being sold out that soon before an event means that there are disappointed subscribers. It also means that everyone will be squashed into the room and people who arrive late will likely not be able to sit with the person(s) they came with.

Thank you for making the best of the situation. It is so appreciated to have your support, especially in a full house. And our apologies to those who were inconvenienced.

During this same month, we are planning for the most ambitious undertaking that SACWN has ever produced, the November Margie Adam concert. Putting on a concert of this magnitude is scary stuff. There is the up front commitment of more than $4,000 for the artist, theater, sound equipment, piano rental and more. That means we must sell 300 tickets before we approach breaking even.

Working with the "big stars" can also be very scary. There is a level of professionalism within the relationship that is demanded. There are extended contractual obligations that must be met. There are personalities and requests that go far beyond the expectations to which we are accustomed.

And there are the 900 seats at the Crest to be filled. We are working with community groups to sell the tickets. For this event only, we will offer SACWN subscribers the opportunity to buy an unlimited number of tickets at the subscriber price. This concert will be open to the entire community, women and men.

The success of this concert will be an important step in the organizational maturity of SACWN. If we can annually produce a successful major event, we will have resources to keep ticket prices low throughout the rest of the year. There will also be less pressure to ensure the profitability of each individual event.

So, join with us as we take this exciting, wonderful, scary giant leap for SACWN. If we just all hold hands, and jump together.....

Thanks,

Rosemary Metrailler

SUCCESSFUL SACWNITE

"I am a person who is passionate about the issues in my life: about my gay community, about educating people to know how wonderful they are, about baseball, and about breast cancer education." Jayne Rountree speaks frankly and without hesitation, about herself, her beliefs and her life.

Six years ago, Jayne's life changed drastically when she was diagnosed with breast cancer. In the healing process after a mastectomy, Jayne looked at the patterns of her life and made some significant changes. "I was a workaholic, but no more. Now each morning I say to myself, what nice thing can I do for me today?" Jayne enjoys camping in her motor home, (she's the facilitator of SACWN's Rainbow Campers), being with people, selling real estate and teaching classes about money at the Lambda Center.

Jayne was born and raised in Portland, Maine. When she was 14, her family moved to San Fernando, CA and her dad went to work at Lockheed. She graduated from San Fernando High School, became a nurse at LA County General Hospital, earned a Bachelor's degree in Nursing and a Master's Degree in Health Care Administration at UCLA Northridge. "I began my career as a heart and lung technician when transplants were experimental. I then became an operating room nurse and supervisor and later worked as a Medicare Fraud Investigator."

In 1977, Jayne and her partner moved to Mt. Shasta, California and Jayne's career as a real estate agent began. "Living in a small town is very different. Everyone knows everyone and you hear what people are saying about you." Those reality checks helped Jayne learn about herself also. In 1985, newly single again, Jayne moved to Sacramento and began her Rountree Realty Company.

Jayne has been very involved in the Sacramento lesbian and gay community. Jayne was a founding mother of Rainbow Realtors, an association of lesbian and gay professions involved in the industry. She has been a SACWN member since the organization's beginning, maintaining a strong involvement throughout her membership.

Jayne recently received an award from the Lambda Center for her activism in the area of breast cancer education. She served on an advisory board with Sutter Hospital to develop a resource guide for people with breast cancer. She is interested in starting a "Cancer Support Group" for the lesbian and gay community. "I want to help so that others will not feel the incredible aloneness that I felt. We need to help each other grieve. I can be there for others, to listen, it is so important."

Jayne works each year at the West Coast Music and Comedy Festival over Labor Day in Yosemite. "I love the festival. It is so important to see and feel lesbian power. It gives me energy."

Success to Jayne Rountree is being healthy. "Not only physical health, but mental health, emotional, spiritual and financial health. If you are pain free in your mind, in your heart and in your pocketbook, then you can live your life freely. If something is missing, your attention is held and you cannot see the everyday miracles of life."

Jayne's life is about helping people have health. Through helping others purchase real estate, build investments or understand their personal health, Jayne continually reveals the everyday miracles to those around her.

SACWN SAYS . . .

YOU ARE INVITED - SACWNite Dell Richards, author of Lesbian Lists, is having a publication party for her new book, Superstars: Twelve Lesbians Who Changed the World. Her latest has biographies of such superstars as radical activist and social worker Jane Addams, nurse extraordinaire Florence Nightingale and Harlem Renaissance salon hostess A'Lelia Walker as well as the first female physician cross-dresser James Miranda Barry -- and eight other colorful lesbians in history. All SACWN members are invited to celebrate this exciting event on Friday, October 1, 7-9 p.m. at Muffins, Etc., 5635 H Street. Let's all 300 of us show up!

DO YOU LOVE TO SHOP? WELL, DO I HAVE A DEAL FOR YOU! To celebrate the opening of the new downtown mall, a special benefit is being held by Macy's Department Store. You can save money and help out a very worthy cause at the same time. Here's how it works:

The Sacramento Women's Center is selling tickets to the downtown Macy's Benefit Shopping Day which will be held on November 3, 1993 between 10:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. Tickets are $10 each and 100% of each ticket sold goes to the Center. Each ticket entitles the holder to a 20% discount on apparel and/or accessories, a 10% discount on non-apparel items and a chance to win a $1,000 shopping spree. The organization with the most tickets collected at the door also wins a prize of up to $8,000. For ticket information, call the Sacramento Women's Center and ask for Carol at 441-4207.

ASKED THIS MONTH OF SACWN - A SACWN subscriber is looking for a woman to teach her to sail. If you know of any female sailing instructors, call the SACWN office at 451-8034. Also, another SACWNite is interested in identifying women to travel with. She's going to England alone this month, and would like to talk to other women who may be interested in future trips. Do we have the beginnings of a TRAVEL SIG here? Leave a message on the machine at 451-8034 if interested.

SACWN AT THE RAINBOW FESTIVAL - SACWNite Angie will be coordinating our booth at the Rainbow Festival on September 5 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on 20th Street between J & L. It's not too late to give Angie hand. One hour shifts would be appreciated. Be sure to stop and see the pictures from the Sacramento Women's Gathering at Camp Augusta. And thanks, Angie!

SUCCESSFUL SACWNITES NEEDED - Now, please don't be shy. Think of it as marketing! Volunteers are needed to be interviewed for the monthly column that appears on another page of this newsletter. Extra copies of the newsletter will be provided to send home to mom and dad. It's easy - just commit to a one hour conversation with SACWN's Brenda Starr and you could have your fifteen minutes of fame.

RESULTS OF SURVEY - Thanks to those who called the SACWN office and gave their opinion of the best day of the week to meet. The overwhelming opinion was "both". So, the Steering Committee will soon consider a calendar that includes several Friday events and a few Saturday events in 1994.

SACWN BREAKS 300 - The number of paid SACWN subscribers over the past year has ranged from 260 to 280+ members, increasing slowly over the months. However, in August, the paid membership broke 300 and as the dust clears, it looks like we will end the month with 308 members. Welcome to our new SACWNites, our returning SACWNites and thank you for your support.

A WAY TO HELP - It is painful to know that there are so many people in Sacramento that do not have food to eat or a place to live. But what can you do to help? Loaves & Fishes Dining Room serves more than 1000 meals a day. They are in need of economy size packages of paper napkins, sugar, coffee creamer and mayonnaise. Call 446-0874 for delivery information.

PURPLE BREASTS

The American Cancer Society in partnership with the Women's Division of the Jewish Federation and the Hyatt Regency will present the production of PURPLE BREASTS on Sunday, October 17 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Hyatt Regency ballroom. The play is a powerful and emotional dramatic presentation written by five women, about the experience of one of those women who died in 1989 from metastatic breast cancer. It tells the story of Zoe, who is diagnosed with breast cancer and the impact it has on her life and those close to her.

Tickets are $5 in advance and $8 at the door. Tickets are available by mail with SASE from the American Cancer Society, 5 Ute Court, Sacramento, 95831.

One in nine women will be diagnosed with breast cancer in 1993. Lesbians are at an even higher risk if they have never been pregnant. It is critical that we educate ourselves and our loved ones. After the play, a panel of experts from the American Cancer Society will answer questions from the audience.

SACWN is supporting this production and lending our assistance in publicizing the event. The American Cancer Society has designated October as "Breast Health Awareness Month". For information call the SACWN office for a free brochure.
